She impersonated a child in Baldwin who told of the wretched home life of her family because of her father s death and her mother s mental illness. The whole family of four children were taken into the orphanage--the first to enter. The impersonation was effectively done and the simple story of the little girl was told in expressive words. Mrs. Mills told in a graphic way of the fire which broke out while she was at the Mothers Jewels Home at York, Nebraska, last summer. The barn and the silo were completely destroyed by fire, but fortunately the animals all escaped except one white rabbit, who lost his head and rushed into the fire. Mrs. Mills made a moving appeal for a cottage for babies who are constantly being brought here, only to. be turned away for lack of space. Life Service Miss Day is working on the Commission on Life Service, together with representatives from other Boards in our Church. This is an experiment in inter-board cooperation. The purpose of this Commission is that of recruiting, guiding, and selecting the candidates for positions under the different Boards of the Church and of doing it unitedly. Colleges are visited by teams representing the several Boards. From November, 1921, to June, 1922, thirty-nine campaigns were held in twenty-eight of which the Woman s Home Missionary Society was directly represented. Twenty other colleges have been visited by individuals. Of the total number where this Society...
